DEPARTMENT OF VISUAL AND PERFORMING ARTS

Chair: Suzanne Adams-Ramsey

Michael Cox, D. Michael Donathan, Richard Galyean, Michael Hunt, Michael McNulty, Ray Stratton, David Volk

The Department of Visual and Performing Arts offers the Bachelor of Arts degree in Liberal Arts and Sciences with majors and minors in art, music and theater.

VISUAL AND PERFORMING ARTS

The Department also offers performance/production related courses for all students. In addition to art, music, and theater courses, general education credit may be fulfilled through dance and VPAR classes. Certain studio, production, and applied theory courses are offered for repeat credit with the proper prerequisites and permission of the instructor.

VISUAL AND PERFORMING ARTS

“Statement of Purpose”

The Department of Visual and Performing Arts endeavors to serve the larger educational mission of the University of Virginia’s College at Wise by designing opportunities to engage fundamental human questions through the unique understandings engendered in artistic expression. These understandings emerge from a collective imagining of who and what we are by giving form to the experience of being human. It is our conviction that the process and forms of creative expression represent fundamental ways of knowing and constitute the basic human occupation with making meaning. As such, we hold the pursuit of artistic expression as essential to the development of an individual and civilization.

BACHELOR OF ARTS IN LIBERAL ARTS AND SCIENCES ART MAJOR

Coordinator: Suzanne Adams-Ramsey

The major in visual art is a broad-based program in two-dimensional studio art stressing interdisciplinary study. The program encourages critical and creative thinking skills and extensive studio work. Students experience a variety of learning environments in which to develop the individuality of their work.

Students will complete the following sequence of courses:

semester hours

LEVEL ONE: FOUNDATIONS COURSE REQUIREMENTS

ART 101	Basic 2-D Design	3
ART 120	Basic Painting	3
ART 121	Drawing I	3

Plus six additional hours in 2-D studio courses of student’s choice

UVa-WISE

LEVEL THREE: SEMINAR REQUIREMENTS

ART 385	Junior Studio Seminar I	3
ART 386	Junior Studio Seminar II	3
ART 485	Senior Studio Seminar I	3
ART 486	Senior Studio Seminar II	3

TOTAL SEMESTER HOURS 12

CONTEXTUAL / SUPPORT COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Eighteen additional hours of contextual support courses are required and should be taken one per semester during the Sophomore, Junior and Senior year. Courses chosen to fulfill this requirement must have pre-approval of the faculty advisor.

TOTAL SEMESTER HOURS 18

TOTAL SEMESTER HOURS IN MAJOR 54

ADMISSION TO THE PROGRAM

Students planning to major in art must begin the foundations courses in the freshman year in order to avoid delayed graduation. Before being admitted to the seminar sequence, students must have successfully completed the level one foundation courses as well as, Art 350 and Art 351 with at least a 2.0 GPA. Formal application to the program is required in the spring semester of the sophomore year, with a portfolio of 20 works submitted to the Department for review. Delayed admission will only be considered for transfer students and/or extenuating circumstances.

JUNIOR AND SENIOR SEMINARS

VISUAL AND PERFORMING ARTS

Studio seminar courses (3 credit hours each) must be completed in sequence, each semester of the junior and senior years. These junior/senior seminars will be comprised of independent studio work and research in a chosen subject area as well as weekly group sessions for critique and related studies. Specific studies outside the realm of the academic studio environment may be considered for fulfillment of the seminar requirement, such as museum studies, foreign travel, apprenticeships, etc.

ADDITIONAL PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

Major candidates must present a portfolio of work for review at the end of each semester. Graduation is contingent upon an approved body of work presented for exhibit at the end of the final semester. A minimum of 24 hours of the total studio credit hours must be at the 300- and 400-level.

MINOR IN ART

Coordinator: Suzanne Adams-Ramsey

A minor in art consists of a minimum of 18 semester hours of art, at least 12 of which must be in 300- or 400-level courses. The minor must be pre-approved by the chair of the Department of Visual and Performing Arts.

COURSES IN ART

ART 100: Introduction to Art (3)

Prerequisite: Freshman status or permission of instructor

A general survey of visual art for non-majors which introduces students without previous art experience to studio exercises in drawing, painting, and two-dimensional design. Emphasizes perception and visualization skills, using examples of historically significant works of art.

ART 101: Basic 2-D Design (3)

Prerequisite: ART 100 or permission of instructor

Basic principles and elements of design and composition as they relate to two dimensional studio work. Projects will explore line, shape, form, texture, balance and color theory through a variety of media.

ART 103: Basic 3-D Design (3)

Prerequisite: Art 101

An introductory study in the elements, organization and implication of three-dimensional design. This course will explore the complexities of mass, form, volume and space in relationship to primary design concerns through reading and visual studies, lecture, studio assignments and project critique.

ART 104: Introduction to Graphic Design (3)

An introduction to design principles, and mechanical and conceptual skills as they relate to commercial art and printing processes. Studio work will include both digital and manual production.

ART 120: Basic Painting (3)

Prerequisite: ART 101 or permission of instructor

Fundamentals of painting with projects including painting from still life, the figure, landscape, and innovative subject matter. Emphasis on form, composition, texture, color, value, and techniques of application.

ART 121: Drawing I (3)

An introductory course in theory and practice of drawing using a variety of media and mark making tools. Emphasis on line, form, space, light, texture and composition.

ART 192: Printmaking (3)

An introductory course to the basics of printmaking, covering a variety of printmaking media. The format of this class will primarily be a lecture/lab.

ART 223: Theory and Practice of Ceramics (3, 3, 3)

Introduction to the design and construction, glazing and firing of hand-built ceramics. Creative exploration of the various hand building processes and decorating techniques will be covered. May be repeated twice for credit.

ART 231: 3-D Design (3, 3)

Prerequisite: ART 101, THTR 115 or permission of instructor

Design and construction of three-dimensional forms by additive, subtractive, and assemblage methods. Maybe repeated for credit.

VISUAL AND PERFORMING ARTS

ART 240: Digital Imaging (3)

A hands-on exploration of the computer, using PhotoShop and Illustrator techniques, as well as an introduction to basic composition and digital history. The format of the class will be primarily lecture/lab, with the majority of the class devoted to lab.

ART 300: Black and White Photography (3, 3, 3)

Fundamentals of black and white photography with an emphasis on the photographic process as an artistic medium. Topics include control and understanding of the camera, film, paper, and the basic photographic processes of development and printing. May be repeated twice for credit.

ART 320: Intermediate Painting (3, 3)

Prerequisite: ART 120 or permission of instructor

Theory and technique of painting. Problems in space, form, color, composition, and materials, using oil, watercolor, acrylic, or mixed media. Emphasis on understanding and appreciation of past and contemporary painting, the variety and relationship of art styles, and techniques and analytic principles of these styles. May be repeated once for credit.

ART 321: Watercolor (3)

Prerequisite: ART 120 or permission of instructor

Introduction to basic watercolor techniques and materials as well as basic color theory as it applies to watercolor painting.

ART 331: Wheel Thrown Ceramics (3, 3, 3)

This course investigates the properties of stoneware clay in forming wheel-thrown vessels. Emphasis is on consistency and proficiency in centering and throwing. Students will experiment with construction techniques and surface finishes. Course may be repeated for a total of nine credit hours.

ART 350: History of Art I (3)

Prerequisite: ENGL 102 or ENGL 103H

History and interpretation of architecture, sculpture, and painting beginning with prehistoric art and following the mainstream of civilization to the end of the Medieval period. Emphasis on relationship of art styles to the social, economic, political and religious conditions of the times, the relationships between works of different periods, and the influence of art on past and present cultures.

ART 351: History of Art II (3)

Prerequisite: ENGL 102 or ENGL 103H

History and interpretation of architecture, sculpture, and painting from 1400 to the present, with emphasis on relationship of art styles to the social, economic, political, and religious conditions of the times, the style relationships between works of different periods, and the influence of art on past and present cultures. Includes study of major trends, developments, philosophy and major artists.

ART 352: 20th Century Art (3)

Prerequisite: ENGL 102 or ENGL 103H

The development of progressive art in the 20th century. Exploration of the plurality of styles and concepts in contemporary art and art theory.

ART 353: Art in the United States (3)

Prerequisite: ENGL 102 or ENGL 103H

A study of the arts in America from Colonial times to the present as they reflect upon the American experience.

Art 354: World Art (3)

Prerequisite: ENGL 102 or ENGL 103H

The historical development of non-Western art. Emphasis is on the social and philosophical relationships of art to the various non-Western cultures and how these relationships contrast with the role of art in Western cultures.

ART 385, 386: Junior Studio Seminar I, II (3,3)

Prerequisites: ART 101 or permission of instructor, and entry portfolio approval

The purpose of this course is to allow individual creative exploration of various studio methods and materials, in multiple contexts, for the purpose of developing a personal artistic initiative. Students are required to complete a body of creative work (to be exhibited at the end of each term), as well as participate in group projects, discussions, and lectures on historic and contemporary art issues. The course is specified for art majors of junior status who have completed a minimum of 15 of the required hours toward the major and who submit an acceptable entry portfolio of work. The structure of the course is variable to accommodate relevant learning opportunities beyond the scope of the college classroom.

ART 392: Theory and Practice of Critique (1,1,1,1)

Prerequisite: Art major status

Enrollment in this course is limited to declared art majors and may be repeated for credit up to four times. This course will consider in depth, the process and value of critique within the artist's practice. Students will engage in intense private and group critiques with a professional artist through the term, for the purpose of significant advancement of the studio practice.

ART 420: Advanced Painting (3, 3)

Prerequisite: Art 320

Further pursuit of individual interest area in watercolor, oil or acrylic, or mixed media; further knowledge of the theory and technique of past and contemporary painting; awareness of the variety and relationship of art styles and techniques, and analytic principles of these styles. May be repeated once for credit.

ART 485, 486: Senior Studio Seminar I, II (3,3)

Prerequisites: ART 101 or permission of instructor, ART 385, 386 and entry portfolio approval

The course will establish a springboard for the student to enter the next phase of artistic development (i.e., professional art school, graduate school, commercial or freelance career) through intense investigation of production and aesthetic problems in art. The student will work independently on a body of work and his/her philosophical initiative, as well as participate in group context for critique, guest lectures, field trips, and exhibitions. The course is specified for art majors of senior status who have completed a minimum of 27 hours required toward the major and who submit an acceptable entry portfolio of work. The structure of this course is variable to accommodate relevant learning opportunities beyond the scope of the college classroom. The student will have responsibility for all aspects of his/her senior exit exhibit at the end of each term.

ART 491, 492: Special Projects (3, 3)

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.

ART 495, 496: Special Studies in Art (1-6, 1-6)

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

ART 497: Independent Study (1-3)

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

BACHELOR OF ARTS IN LIBERAL ARTS AND SCIENCES MUSIC MAJOR

Coordinator: David Volk

The major in music is a program that provides a foundation of music studies in music theory, music history/literature, applied music, ensemble performance, orchestration, and conducting and from which a student may pursue specific interests through the completion of additional advanced music course work. The degree culminates in the presentation of a thirty-minute lecture recital typically given during the Junior or Senior year.

ADMISSION TO THE MUSIC MAJOR PROGRAM

Students pursuing the Bachelor of Arts degree in Liberal Arts and Sciences-Music Major must be admitted by an audition for the Division of Music faculty. Contact the Division of Music for specific audition requirements for your instrument, including appropriate scales or rudiments. Accompanists for the audition are not provided by the College, although the student may audition with taped accompaniment. The Division of Music will arrange specific audition dates each spring semester, but students may also be permitted, with approval of the Division, to audition at other times. Live auditions are preferred, but in instances where a live audition is not possible, a taped audition will be accepted. Students provisionally admitted by taped audition may be asked to audition live upon their arrival to campus for formal admission into the program.

Upon acceptance to the program and prior to enrollment in MUSI course work, Music majors will complete entrance examinations in Music Theory, Piano and Music Literature. Students with deficiencies in these areas may be required to complete some or all of the following course work prior to enrolling in MUSI 151/153 (Music Theory I/ Aural Skills I), MUSI 126 (Intermediate Class Piano), and/or MUSI 432 or 433 (Music History I or II):

- MUSI 120 – Introduction to Music Reading (3 hours):
required of students who need preparatory work in piano or music fundamentals. Credit earned in MUSI 120 does not count toward the Music major. Hours may, however, be counted toward the General Education Humanities or Arts requirements.

VISUAL AND PERFORMING ARTS

- MUSI 116 – Beginning Class Piano (1 hour):
required of students who read music, but who do not have basic piano skills. Credit earned in MUSI 116 does not count toward the Music major. Hours may, however, be counted toward the General Education Humanities or Arts requirements.
- MUSI 233 – Music Appreciation (3 hours):
required of students who need preparatory work in Music Literature. Credit earned in MUSI 233 does not count toward the Music major. Hours may, however, be counted toward the General Education Humanities or Arts requirements.

Students with exceptional experience in the areas of Music Theory, Piano, and Music Literature may be exempted, upon examination, from certain courses within the Music major curriculum. Students who exempt required courses by examination will be permitted to substitute elective courses in music in fulfillment of their degree requirements.

FRESHMAN AND SOPHOMORE EVALUATIONS

At the conclusion of two semesters of applied music study in both MUSI 129 and 229, students will be juried by the Division of Music faculty to determine their eligibility for advancement in applied music study and/or performance of the Junior Lecture Recital.

The Freshman Evaluation, which follows the completion of the second semester of MUSI 129: Applied Music: Principal, consists of the performance of two pieces of contrasting style for the Division of Music faculty as well as appropriate rudiments and/or scales on the student's instrument. Academic progress in music courses will also be reviewed. Music majors who, at the conclusion of two semesters of study in MUSI 129, do not demonstrate, in the faculty's opinion, suitable progress in solo performance or have not completed required preparatory course work in MUSI 120 or MUSI 233 mandated by their entrance exams will not be permitted to enroll in MUSI 229 until such deficiencies have been remedied. Students may, at the faculty's discretion, continue to enroll in MUSI 129 on a space-available basis, but credit earned in MUSI 129 beyond two-semester of study is not applicable toward the music hours required for the Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Arts and Sciences Music major.

UVA-WISE

The Sophomore Evaluation, which follows the completion of the second semester of MUSI 229: Applied Music: Principal, consists of the performance of a minimum of ten minutes of music suitable for the Junior Lecture Recital as well as the review of academic progress in music course work. Music majors who, at the conclusion of two semesters of study in MUSI 229, do not demonstrate, in the faculty's opinion, suitable progress in solo performance or who have not successfully completed MUSI 151, MUSI 152, MUSI 153, and MUSI 154 will not be permitted to enroll in MUSI 390 or MUSI 329 until such deficiencies have been remedied. Students may, at the faculty's discretion, continue to enroll in MUSI 229 on a space-available basis, but credit earned in MUSI 229 beyond two-semester of study is not applicable toward the music hours required for the Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Arts and Sciences Music major.

JUNIOR LECTURE RECITAL

The Junior Lecture Recital serves as the "capstone" for the Music major. The Lecture Recital is a minimum 30 minute presentation to be divided equally among performance of repertoire of an appropriate degree of difficulty for Junior-level undergraduate music majors and the historical and analytical criticism of that repertoire in a lecture format. The Lecture component of the recital must present a clear thesis explored by the student's historical and analytical comments and reinforced by the student's musical performance. The scholarly and technological expectations of the Lecture Recital are outlined in the Division of Music Applied Music syllabi.

ADMISSION TO TEACHER EDUCATION PROGRAM (TEP)

All majors in music seeking license to teach with an endorsement in music, Pre-K-12, must complete the following course work in fulfillment of their Upper Division Music Elective and additional degree hours. To be recommended by the Division of Music to the Teacher Education Program (TEP), a student must have a 3.0 grade point average in all music course work completed at UVa-Wise, with a minimum of 24 credits in music courses taken at the College. (Those students whose grade point average in music course work is below 3.0 but above 2.5 may be considered for recommendation to the TEP, if there are special circumstances warranting such consideration. A request for special consideration must be submitted to the Division of Music in writing). For additional requirements and information relative to the TEP, please contact the Director of Teacher Education.

MINOR IN MUSIC

Coordinator: David Volk

UVA-WISE

The minor in music is designed to provide students with the opportunity to pursue music as a performing art and as an adjunct to the major academic field. It does not prepare students to teach music in the public schools. The minor in music is available only to those students who have a background in music performance as a soloist and/or member of an instrumental and choral organization at the high school and college level. Students electing the minor in music will be required to complete an instrumental, vocal, or piano solo entrance audition and examinations in basic musicianship and music literature. Scores on entrance examinations may allow the student to be exempted from some lower level requirements for the minor in music. Courses with a final grade less than C- will not count toward the minor in music.

The minor in music consists of 20 semester hours and will include:

The following lower division courses, designed to prepare the student to understand the concepts of basic musicianship, are to be completed prior to electing courses in applied music and music literature. These courses ensure a minimal piano proficiency and a basic to advanced understanding of music theory. The minimal piano proficiency is demonstrated by successful completion of MUSI 116 and/or the Beginning Class Piano Proficiency Exam or, optionally, MUSI 126 and/or the Intermediate Class Piano Proficiency Exam. The proficiency in Music Theory is demonstrated by successful completion of MUSI 151/152 and, optionally, MUSI 153/154. Music minors must complete 8 semester hours chosen from the following courses in consultation with the music coordinator. Course selection will be made based on the student's musical experience and abilities.

Eight hours selected below in consultation with the music coordinator:

CERTIFICATE IN PERFORMANCE (FOR MUSIC MINORS)

Music Minors may earn the Certificate in Performance (for Music Minors) upon completion of the following:

- Requirements for the Minor in Music; and, in addition:
- A 30-minute recital developed in consultation with the applied teacher and approved by the Division of Music faculty
- MUSI 153 and MUSI 154 (if not completed as part of the student's Minor requirements)
- A minimum of four sequential semesters of Applied Music in preparation for the recital (two additional semesters of study beyond the Minor requirements)
- An additional 3 hours in upper division MUSI

BACHELOR OF ARTS IN LIBERAL ARTS AND SCIENCES
THEATER MAJOR

Coordinator: Michael McNulty

The Theater Arts program at the University of Virginia's College at Wise is committed to fostering an understanding of theater as an integrated, collaborative art form that strives for a communal imagining of what it means to be human. We hold that the practice and experience of theatrical form founds an experiential understanding which engenders empathy and compassion. It is our endeavor to bring this theatrical way of knowing to the larger college community. We strive to make these aspirations our foremost intent, realized persistently through our interactions and undertakings—placing the good of the community and its work above any personal interest we may reap from it.

VISUAL AND PERFORMING ARTS

The major in theater provides the opportunity to practice and develop a wide variety of insights and skill sets applicable to graduate or professional work in theater as well as a variety of other careers. The combined curricular and production programs provide a foundation of theater study and practice from which a student may pursue specific interests through advanced courses and practica. Students will complete the following course of studies:

COURSES IN THEATER

THTR 101: Introduction to Theater (3)

An introduction to the craft and art of theater including acting, directing, management, design, theater history, and dramatic literature.

THTR 103: Acting (3)

An introductory acting workshop focused on overcoming coming stage fright, basic scene analysis, and realistic acting through classroom games and exercises.

THTR 115: Introduction to Theatrical Design (3)

This course introduces students to the practice of theatrical design and the function of its various elements - scenery, lighting, and costuming - in theatrical expression. Students will practice rendering, composition, and 3D modeling skill, as well as verbal articulations in an effort to clearly and concisely communicate their design ideas, concepts and applications.

THTR 150: Majors' Seminar (no credit)

This seminar is required each semester a student is declared as a theater major and will center around student involvement, decision making, and presentations within the department. Though the seminar is not for credit, it is required of all theater majors and will meet approximately 8-10 times a semester.

THTR 165: Stagecraft (3)

A hands-on course in technical theater which focuses on the examination and practice of scenic construction and lighting techniques.

THTR 186: Performance Practicum I (3)

Prerequisite: THTR 100 or permission of instructor

Students will contract to serve in a role in one of the department's theatrical productions. This will entail a set of production responsibilities clearly outlined at the onset of the production process in the student's contract. The student will function as in a professional position - taking on the specified responsibilities under the time constraints implicit in the larger production process.

THTR 188: Technical Theater Practicum I (3)

Prerequisite: THTR 165 or permission of instructor and audition

Students will contract to serve in one of a number of different technical positions involved in one of the department's theatrical productions.

Each

position will entail a set of production responsibilities clearly outlined at the onset of the production process in the student's contract. The student will function as in a professional position - taking on the specified responsibilities under the time constraints implicit in the larger production process.

THTR 200: Intermediate Acting (3)

Prerequisite: THTR 103 or permission of instructor

A studio course continuing the development of acting skills first introduced in THTR 103. Vocal, movement, and character development skills will be stressed. A final performance is required as a capstone experience for the course.

THTR 201: Voice and Oral Interpretation (3)

This course will explore the basic principles of vocal production as they relate to theater and speech. Emphasis is placed on the mechanics of breathing, projection, resonance, and development of range, as well as interpretation of text.

THTR 203: Movement in Performance (3)

Prerequisite: THTR 103 or permission of instructor

This class is intended to introduce students to the movement component of performance. Experimenting with, considering, and practicing various disciplines of movement (expressive and training), students will examine and discuss the role of movement in performance. These examinations and discussions will be applied in performance projects.

VISUAL AND PERFORMING ARTS

THTR 215: Costume Design and Construction (3)

Prerequisite: THTR 115 or permission of instructor

This course is designed to introduce students to the costume design process and noted costume designers as well as basic costume construction principles. Students will also be exposed to various costume construction techniques through both hand sewing and machine stitching. Students will become familiar with cutting, draping, and following a pattern, as well as care and maintenance of the sewing machine and the overlock machine.

THTR 226: Rehearsal, Ensemble, and Performance I (3)

Prerequisite: THTR 103 and by audition

This course is intended to introduce the student to the practice of rehearsing theater and to explore and evaluate various approaches to that end. The course work will center around the development of an actual performance through rehearsals which will be used concurrently to reflect upon and consider the various elements and processes of its construction.

THTR 235: Production and Stage Management (3)

This course is designed to develop business skills in organization, communication, and management and is tailored to specific applications in the theater and entertainment industry. Students will practice assuming various production and management responsibilities including event planning, scheduling, budgeting, accounting, procurement, publicity, hiring, payroll, and documentation as well as interpersonal and organizational communication skills. Students will participate in mock scenarios in which they will be asked to solve possible real-world problems and document the solutions.

THTR 236: Rehearsal, Ensemble, and Performance II (3)

Prerequisite: THTR 226 and by audition

This course is intended to introduce the student to the practice of rehearsing theater and to explore and evaluate various approaches to that end. The course work will center around the development of an actual performance through rehearsals which will be used concurrently to reflect upon and consider the various elements and processes of its construction. Student performance expectations build upon those in the THTR 226 Rehearsal, Ensemble, and Performance course.

THTR 265: Drafting for the Theater (3)

The Drafting course is designed to introduce the theater student to the principles of mechanical hand drafting and the basic theatrical construction considerations which inform them. Students will develop hands-on experience in drafting and will create drafting packets modeled after professional designers and technical directors.

THTR 276: Western Drama I (3)

Prerequisites: ENGL 101 and 102

An examination of Western thought through the study of plays representing the major aesthetic, social, and political movements from the Greeks through the 19th century. Students seeking upper-level credit will be assigned additional readings and/or projects.

THTR 277: Western Drama II (3)

Prerequisites: ENGL 101 and 102

An examination of Western thought through the study of plays representing major aesthetic, social, and political movements during the 20th century. Students seeking upper-level credit will be assigned additional readings and/or projects.

THTR 286: Performance Practicum II (3)

Prerequisite: THTR 186 and by audition

Students will contract to serve in a role in one of the department's theatrical productions. This will entail a set of production responsibilities clearly outlined at the onset of the production process in the student's contract. The student will function as in a professional position - taking on the specified responsibilities under the time constraints implicit in the larger production process. Roles and responsibilities will build upon those of the THTR 186 Performance Practicum.

THTR 287: Theatrical Design Practicum I (3)

Prerequisite: THTR 115 or permission of instructor

Students will contract to serve in one of several design positions in one of the department's theatrical productions. Each position will entail a set of production responsibilities clearly outlined at the onset of the production process in the student's contract. The student will function as in a professional position - taking on the specified responsibilities under the time constraints implicit in the larger production process.

THTR 288: Technical Theater Practicum II (3)

VISUAL AND PERFORMING ARTS

Prerequisite: THTR 188

Students will contract to serve in one of a number of different technical positions involved in one of the department's theatrical productions.

Each

position will entail a set of production responsibilities clearly outlined at the onset of the production process in the student's contract. The student will function as in a professional position - taking on the specified responsibilities under the time constraints implicit in the larger production process. Roles and responsibilities will build upon those of the THTR 188 Technical Practicum.

THTR 289: Production/Management Practicum I (3)

Prerequisite: THTR 235 or permission of instructor

Students will contract to serve in one of a number of different positions in one of the department's theatrical productions. Each position will entail a set of production responsibilities clearly outlined at the onset of the production process in the student's contract. The student will function as in a professional position - taking on the specified responsibilities under the time constraints implicit in the larger production process.

THTR 300: Playwriting (3)

Prerequisites: THTR 101 or THTR 103 or permission of instructor

A creative writing course, focusing on plays, dramatic structure and technique. Students will share their written work in class, learning through in-class critiques of each others' works, as guided by the instructor. Students may choose between writing a complete play, writing a series of play-focused exercises, or a combination of the two.

THTR 301: Performance Laboratory (3)

Prerequisite: THTR 103 or permission of instructor

A performance workshop (acting and directing) focusing on non-realistic theater and contemporary trends in performance. May be repeated for credit.

THTR 303: Acting Techniques (3)

Prerequisite: THTR 103 or permission of instructor

This course will examine a variety of acting techniques and will focus specifically on those techniques that have become collectively referred to as "the method." It will examine the psychological techniques developed in the middle of 20th century and the relationship of such techniques to the original work of Constantine Stanislavski and the Moscow Art Theater. It will also consider the theoretical questions posed by techniques which have radically rejected the psychological approach. Ultimately the course will consider whether the approach to acting is more successful as a psychological or physical one.

THTR 315: Lighting Design (3)

Prerequisites: THTR 115 or THTR 265 or permission of instructor

A course focusing on theatrical lighting design. Students will explore the lighting design process in depth, with emphasis on modes of representation, concept, creativity, collaboration and interpretation through design. Students will have the opportunity to work concurrently in the co-curricular theater production program on the lighting for a real-world production. The course is additionally applicable to art and photography studies.

THTR 326: Rehearsal, Ensemble, and Performance III (5)

Prerequisite: THTR 236 and by audition

This course is intended to introduce the student to the practice of rehearsing theater and to explore and evaluate various approaches to that end. The course work will center around the development of an actual performance through rehearsals which will be used concurrently to reflect upon and consider the various elements and processes of its construction. Additionally, students will serve in a mentorship capacity for the 200-level students in the course and will assist in the teaching of certain aspects of the course curriculum.

THTR 336: Rehearsal, Ensemble, and Performance IV (5)

Prerequisite: THTR 326 and by audition

This course is intended to introduce the student to the practice of rehearsing theater and to explore and evaluate various approaches to that end. The course work will center around the development of an actual performance through rehearsals which will be used concurrently to reflect upon and consider the various elements and processes of its construction. In addition to the general requirements of the course, upper level students will serve in a mentorship capacity of lower level students and will assist in the teaching of certain aspects of the course curriculum. These expectations will build upon those of the THTR 326 Rehearsal, Ensemble, and Performance course.

THTR 347: Theatrical Design Practicum II (3)

PEAKE HONORS PROGRAM

Prerequisite: THTR 287

Students will contract to serve in one of several design positions in one of the department's theatrical productions. Each position will entail a set of production responsibilities clearly outlined at the onset of the production process in the student's contract. The student will function as in a professional position - taking on the specified responsibilities under the time constraints implicit in the larger production process. Roles and responsibilities will build upon those of the THTR 287 Design Practicum.

THTR 349: Production/Management Practicum II (3)
